

Lambrusco Reggiano DOC Secco Quercioli Medici Ermete

TAN & NS

WINE IMPORTERS

Story of the wine:

It is now surely the time for Lambrusco to return to its origins, which is a dry, full sparkling red wine. The multi award winning Quercioli is a wine that has been made by Medici Ermete with a view to returning the reputation of Lambrusco to its former glory. It is a single vineyard wine and with lower yields to enable greater concentration and depth. The Lambrusco (Italian for 'wild grape') variety is really a group of 6 varieties found mostly in Emilia. The Salamino variety is the most widely planted and is generally the most full bodied and aromatic of the Lambrusco varieties. Within the estate is an old Franciscan monastery which has been preserved and probably part of the estate formerly belonged to this monastery. Interesting fact, there is no such thing as white lambrusco, only red! This wine wins lots of awards every single vintage since 2004!

Varietals:

Blend of Lambrusco Salamino & Lambrusco Marani

Area:

Reggio, Emilia Romagna, Italy

Av. age of the vines:

22-25 years

Ageing:

a sparkling dry red wine that undergoes fermentation in stainless steel tanks. It is produced in the Reggio Emilia region, utilizing the "Cordone speronato" plant system. The vineyard yields a maximum of 14,000 kg per hectare and is situated in clayey soil. The wine has a sugar content of 14 g/l.

Descriptions for Wine List:

The Lambrusco Secco from Medici Ermete dazzles with its vibrant ruby red color. Its bouquet is both pleasant and persistent, graced with a charming violet scent. On the palate, it delivers a dry, fruity experience that is refreshingly lively and harmoniously balanced. When poured, the froth is both fine and rich, adding an extra touch of elegance to this exceptional wine.

